

Writer's Guidelines for Everyday Spirituality Blog – connect.faith

The Everyday Spirituality Blog is a place to share your ideas about the intersection of creativity, spirituality and justice. Please explore the connect.faith website, particularly the about page, to learn more about who we are, and the Progressive Christian perspective we embrace.

The original posting takes place on the connect.faith website, with additional links published in a connect.faith email newsletter, and connect.faith social media.

Blog entries need to be between 300 and 500 words to be accepted. We ask that you submit a 1-5 word suggested title, as well as a one sentence summary. If you have a photo you'd like us to consider including with your entry, given the copyright restrictions below, feel free to send that as well.

Please send one submission at a time.

By submitting your entry to the blog, or giving permission to connect.faith to publish your work, either in print or electronically, you represent:

1. that all works submitted are your creation.
2. that reproduction and distribution of the work will not violate any copyright or other right of any third party;

We are committed to paying writers to write. Authors will be paid $25 for each accepted submission. We are only paying for the author's submission to this blog. All rights will remain with the author.

Send all submissions to debbie@connect.faith